I Will Represent Myself

If you have a representative to assist you with your application for interim relief, you must submit a separate Notice of Representation form at the same time you submit this form. If you plan to get a representative, you must submit the Notice of Representation once you have a representative. This gives us the authorization to work with your representative.

Section 3: Information about your application

You must file an appeal of a Dispute Resolution and Decision Review Body (DRDRB) decision to the Appeals Commission to apply for interim relief.

We require the following information in order to process your application:

- WCB Claim Numbers:
- Date of DRDRB decision being appealed: (DD/MM/YYYY)
- Did you receive interim relief from the DRDRB regarding the decision? Yes No

If yes, attach copies of:

- The DRDRB interim relief decision, and
 - All documents you provided to the DRDRB to get interim relief
- Copies attached

Note: Even if you received interim relief from the DRDRB, you must answer all of the questions that follow in Section 4 of this application.

Section 4: Application for interim relief

You must answer all questions below for us to accept your application.

Does the worker have an arguable case in the appeal of the DRDRB decision? (Arguable case is a case that presents sufficiently detailed facts, identifies legal or factual issues that are plausible and which, if accepted by the decision maker, could substantially affect the decision in the case.) Please provide reasons.

Does the decision under review or appeal affect the entitlement to current wage loss benefits, and the sum in question is greater than $500? Please explain.

Is the worker, spouse or adult interdependent partner ineligible for any other financial support? Please include documents to support your answer. These can include documents that show you, your spouse or partner are not able to get financial support, like money or benefits, from anywhere else. For example, a document from a government agency or organization which provides money or other benefits to people, like Employment Insurance, Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped or Income Support.

Section 4: Application for interim relief continued

Without interim relief, would the worker and his/her family be placed in necessitous circumstances such as probable inability to afford basic necessities of life such as food, clothing and shelter, or face probable forfeiture or seizure of assets (for example, the family home)? Please include documents to support your answer. These documents can include:

- Financial records such as bank and credit card statements.
- Documents showing information about mortgage, rent or lease payments and about your ability to make the payments.
- A monthly income and expense statement. This includes a list of how much money you receive each month and from where. It also includes a list of how much money you spend each month and what you spend it on.

Section 5: Hearing information

Note that interim relief applications are usually heard on a documentary basis so that we can make a decision as soon as possible. You may request an in-person hearing but this could delay the process and increase the time you will wait for a decision. The Appeals Commission will make the final decision on how to hear your application.

I prefer:

- a document hearing
- ☐ an in-person hearing in Edmonton ☐ an in-person hearing in Calgary
- a teleconference hearing
- a video conference hearing

Section 6: Do you need an interpreter or other accommodations for your hearing?

If you have chosen an in-person hearing, including a teleconference or video conference hearing:

Do you need an interpreter? Yes No

Language and Dialect of the Interpreter:

Do you need any other accommodations?

Examples of accommodations can include but are not limited to the need for a chair fitted with a back brace, the support of a service animal, and/or extra breaks during the hearing. If you need any accommodations, please tell us in the space provided below, and you will be contacted to discuss any reasonable accommodation the Appeals Commission can offer.
